Dear Valued Customer,

California's "Proposition 65" law requires companies conducting business in California to provide a "clear and reasonable" warning before knowingly and intentionally exposing anyone to one of more than 900 chemicals. For consumer product sales, this requirement was historically limited to providing the warning on the product's packaging or on point-of-purchase signage.

New this year, changes to Proposition 65 require any internet or catalog seller to also provide the warning as follows:

- For internet purchases, on the product display page or otherwise prominently to the purchaser prior to completing the purchase.
- For catalog purchases, in the catalog in a manner that clearly associates it with the item being purchased.

These changes take effect on August 30, 2018. More information about these new requirements can be found at <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65/cnr/notice-adoption-article-6-clear-and-reasonable-warnings>.

Though we have no reason to believe our products could cause harm when used as intended, we include the Proposition 65 warning on some of our products to meet California's "safe harbor" requirements. For questions contact Bollé Safety at marketing@bollesafety-usa.com.

Under California Proposition 65, it is your responsibility to ensure any required warnings are provided on your retail website or in your catalog. If you further distribute our products to retailers, please forward this information to them. Otherwise, please do not forward to any other retailers, consumers, or other parties.

Sincerely,

Bill Godfrey
